

Domings Appointed President and CEO

EDINA, MINNESOTA - JANUARY 1, 2008. McDonald Consulting Group, Inc. today announced that William J. Domings, Jr., Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the company, was named President and CEO, succeeding Ron McDonald. Ron McDonald, founder and past President of MCG, will continue to be involved with MCG in key projects and will provide advice and counsel for at least the next two years.

“We are and will continue to be committed to providing the best management consulting services for our clients in the insurance industry,” said Ron McDonald. “Bill joined our firm in 1996. I have known him and worked with him for over 25 years. He has an MBA, over 30 years experience in insurance and more than 25 years as a management consultant. He is uniquely qualified to lead the firm.”

About MCG. The McDonald Consulting Group is a boutique management consulting firm that specializes in helping insurance companies make fundamental improvements in the way they operate. We work with your executives and other key employees to ensure you have the right infrastructure to consistently attain and surpass your business goals. This includes having the most effective success measures, organization structure, systems and workflows, planning and management processes, management tools, even employee incentive compensation plans.

We consistently help our clients attain significant expense reductions, sustainable double-digit growth, better financial results, improved customer and agent satisfaction and more efficient service – all at the same time. And we do this with the cooperation and support of everyone in the company. Our most successful clients have created ownership cultures, where teams and units of employees are accountable for their results and share in the gain they create when these results are above plan.
